Course Development Policy

According to International benchmarks, every accounting and tax professional has to undergo four phases for Initial Professional Development (IPD). Following are those four competency phases –

- Education
- Examination
- Ethics
- Experience

In our course we have fulfilled above conditions as follows -

- Education- will be delivered through suitable mode for core domain of Taxation and Allied areas in the form of four subjects
- Examination – above areas will be assessed with Term end computer based examination & practical assignments
- Ethics- Ethics shall form part of orientation course and exams both
- Experience- Candidates will be compulsorily given mentoring by senior practitioners

Then candidate will be required to undergo lifelong learning in the form of continuous professional development (CPD) by taking seminars/webinars etc. as membership maintenance condition to remain competent professional.

Intellectual Levels:

The syllabus is designed to progressively broaden and deepen the knowledge, skills and professional values demonstrated by the candidate on their way through the course. The specific capabilities within the detailed syllabus is assessed at below three intellectual levels:

Level 1: Knowledge and comprehension – MCQ questions of each of the paper assess these capabilities from all part of syllabus

Level 2: Application and analysis – Task based problems/ case study based questions assess these capabilities

Level 3: Synthesis and evaluation- Task based problems/ case study based questions assess these capabilities

This gives an indication of the intellectual depth at which an area could be assessed within the examination.

To help this fit into NOS-QP developments we would like to clarify that –

- Each subject is like a NoS, having
- Learning outcomes as performance criteria which can be further divided into tasks
- Knowledge & understanding would be technical subject knowledge
- Generic skills would be professional skills that are involved in performing that tasks like
 - These fulfill social emotional learning requirements at level 6 encompassing leadership, self-directive, critical thinker, problem solver, emotionally aware, team player
