India – The Institute of Certified Public Accountants - Reproduction - IFAC material

To secretary@icpaindia.org <secretary@icpaindia.org>

---

Dear Mohasin Tahasildar,

Thank you for your interest in IFAC's publications.

Please be kindly advised that it is acceptable to download the PDF document to a single PC or similar device for individual, non-commercial use. However, reproduction (use in training materials, paraphrasing, etc) or dissemination (emailing, posting on a server, or otherwise distributing, etc.) is not allowed without written permission of IFAC to use our intellectual property.

I wanted to take a moment to advise you about access to the electronic version of the IFAC publications in question. For such access, we encourage you to provide a link to the IFAC website from your website instead of publishing the electronic version on your own site(s). This is the preferred approach as it drives traffic to IFAC's site and the Gateway, and provides users with access to various areas of interest and related publications within the IFAC site. It also enables us to monitor activity on our site, including use of the content.

If, however, there is a compelling reason as to why ICPA India is unable to link to our site, please explain this to us and we will consider your input.

Kind regards,

Judy Challenger
